City of Stirling

City's profile

The City of Stirling (the City) is located 8km north of Perth's central business district and covers an area of around 100km². Spanning 30 suburbs – from Scarborough in the west to Balga and Inglewood in the east, and from Beach Road in the north to Herdsman in the south – the City is a thriving cosmopolitan, multicultural and economic hub.

The City sits on land known as Mooro Country, home to Wadjak Nyoongar people for more than 40,000 years. Mooro Country covers a large area, extending from the Indian Ocean in the west to beyond the City's boundary in the east, and from the Swan River on the banks of Perth's CBD to the boundary of Perth's metropolitan northern border more than 50 km away. A coastal wetlands trail follows a chain of lakes from the Swan River heading north. This is regarded by the Nyoongar community as 'all the same water' and shares the ideal 'one water, many lakes'. Aboriginal heritage sites are registered at each of the lakes in this chain, including sacred sites at Lake Gwelup, Star Swamp and Herdsman Lake.

It is the largest local government area by population in Western Australia and the seventeenth largest in Australia. The City's estimated resident population in 2025 was 249,000, with a median age of 38 years. Between 2016 and 2021, the annualised population growth rate was 0.41 per cent.

The City's population is incredibly diverse. Recent data from 2023 shows that around 39 per cent of the City's population was born overseas and about 29 per cent of the population spoke a language other than English at home. The population of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islanders has remained stable at approximately one per cent of the City's population.

The City is mainly urban, with over 103,000 private dwellings that includes a diverse range of housing types. It also has 1,780ha of open space for reserves, parks, natural conservation areas and special purpose lands, including over 700ha of natural bushland, 26 wetland sites and 7km of coastal dunes and beaches.

The popular summer playgrounds and top surf spots of Scarborough and Trigg are just some of the City's major attractions. In 2023, the tourism industry contributed an estimated $794 million to the local economy while employing around 2,886 people.

With well-established business and retail centres, the City is the second-largest employment district in Western Australia, after the Perth central business district. Approximately 88,000 people work in the City of Stirling within key industries including construction, retail, health, professional, scientific and technical, education and training, manufacturing, hospitality, and real estate services. The total value of final goods and services generated by the City of Stirling economy in 2024 was estimated at $19.61 billion.

Each directorate is led by a director who reports to the Chief Executive Officer (CEO). Directorates are made up of a number of business units, each overseen by a business unit manager. The CEO also has two business units under their leadership.

The CEO is appointed by and directly accountable to the Council.

Decision making

The decisions of the City impact on the everyday life of its residents in many ways, due to the wide-ranging responsibilities and activities placed on local governments. The provision of roads and footpaths, drainage, parks, recreation and leisure facilities, libraries, welfare services, refuse collection and disposal facilities, cultural services, and environmental health control activities are all matters requiring decisions by the City at various levels of consideration. The most far-reaching effect the City has on the public is its control over planning matters. It has responsibility to oversee protection of the City's natural environment and heritage, while maintaining pace with a fast rate of urban development.

The City has also developed a range of plans that guide and direct its actions into the future. Copies of these plans are available from the City's Administration Centre or on the City's website.

Many of the issues that require a Council decision are subject to policy statements aimed at providing consistency in determinations, as well as indicating to the public the Council's position on a particular matter. A list of the City's policies is available on the City's website.

Ordinary Council meetings

Where Council is required to make decisions, it does so through regular Council meetings. The Council is the policy and decision-making body for the City with a focus on strategic direction. The CEO, directors and other employees also attend Council meetings to assist the Elected Members in making informed decisions.

Special Council meetings

Special meetings are convened to consider an urgent matter or a matter that involves special circumstances. Special meetings are conducted in a similar way as the Ordinary Council meetings.

Special Electors' meetings

A Special Electors' meeting occurs if a petition, signed by at least 100 eligible electors, is submitted to the Council requesting that meeting be held on a particular matter.

Electors' General meetings

The Electors' General Meeting occurs once every financial year. Reports that are submitted include the Annual Report, Annual Financial Statements, Auditor's Report for the previous financial year, and other general business.

Committees

In some cases, Council has established Committees to assist with its decision-making responsibilities. The Council is also represented on various statutory and non-statutory Boards and Committees.

The City has a number of Committees that meet on a regular basis to oversee operations and make recommendations to the Council in their specific areas of responsibility.

The two major Committees (the Community and Resources Committee and Planning and Development Committee) are represented by eight members, including the Mayor and one Councillor from each ward. Each Committee member has an appointed deputy and second deputy to act in their place should they be absent. The relevant Directors and other employees from the City's administration attend the meeting according to the business to be considered.

Community and Resources Committee

The objective of the Committee is to advise Council on matters that pertain to waste management, engineering services, recreation and leisure, parks and environment, leisure and community facilities, arts and culture, community services, community safety, transport, facility management, project management, asset management, human resources, governance, finance and corporate projects, strategy and performance.

Recommendations are referred to Council for consideration.

Planning and Development Committee

The objective of the Committee is to advise Council on matters that pertain to development approvals, city planning, environmental health and compliance, economic development, and property and commercial services.

Recommendations are referred to Council for consideration.

Audit, Risk and Improvement Committee

The objective of the Committee is to advise Council in relation to internal and external audit, compliance and risk management matters as well as the City of Stirling's financial statements. The Audit, Risk and Improvement Committee is responsible for advising Council on all matters relating to:

- external audit and internal audit functions and activities;
- financial management processes and controls;
- risk management activities;
- internal control effectiveness;
- compliance with legislative and statutory requirements; and
- ethical accountability and integrity.

Recommendations are referred to Council for consideration.

Chief Executive Officer Performance Review Committee

The purpose of the Committee is to review the Chief Executive Officer's performance in accordance with the appropriate provisions contained within the Chief Executive Officer's Employment Agreement.

The Committee has delegated authority to make decisions on behalf of Council as detailed in the City's Delegated Authority Register.

Further information on the City's Committee system can be found on the City's website.

Public participation

The numerous activities and services that local governments provide, impact their communities at various levels, and consequently public participation in the decision-making process is an important part in providing good governance. An effective decision-making process increases the likelihood that the decisions themselves will be in the best interest of the community. Decisions are made by the Council and where appropriate decisions have been delegated to the Chief Executive Officer and designated employees in the administration.

Where Council is required to make decisions, it does so through regular Council meetings. In some cases, the Council has established Committees to assist with its decision-making responsibilities. The Council is also represented on various statutory and non-statutory Boards and Committees.

Attending Council and committee meetings

The procedures for conducting Council and Committee Meetings are governed by the City's Meeting Procedures Local Law 2021.

Members of the public are welcome to attend Council and Committee meetings. There is an opportunity at Council meetings for members of the public to ask questions (refer to 'Public Question Time') and an opportunity at Committee meetings for members of the public to make a deputation (refer to 'Deputations').

Public question time

In order to assist members of the public to participate, and to enhance relationships with its community, the Council allows for public questions to be asked at Council Meetings.

The allotted public question time during a Council meeting is 15 minutes and may be extended if circumstances require. A submission form must be completed by the speaker in advance, with sufficient time for complex questions to be researched and a response provided.

Any member of the public attending a Council meeting can ask up to three questions on any matter relating to the ordinary business of the City or the function of the Council regardless of whether or not the matter in question is on the agenda.

Deputations

Members of the public can make a four-minute deputation (statement) at Planning and Development Committee meetings and at Community and Resources Committee meetings. Deputations may only be made in relation to an item on the agenda, and only one speaker 'against' and one speaker 'for' an item is permitted. The Deputation Submission Form must be completed prior to the commencement of the meeting.

Elected Members

In their role, Elected Members make themselves available to the community to assist with matters regarding the function of Council.

Written requests

A member of the public can write to the City on the policy, activity, service or any issues within the City's jurisdiction.

Community consultation

The City is committed to ensuring the community is consulted on projects, plans and proposals by advertising in local papers, the City's website and on public notice boards, as well as organising public meetings, letters to the community and communication through the local ward Councillors.

The City's Planning Consultation Procedure provides a framework to ensure that our community and stakeholders are effectively consulted prior to decision making. The outcomes of community consultation are reported to Council and are recorded in the Council minutes.

Petitions

Petitions can be submitted in a hard copy format or as an ePetition via the City's website. Electors may petition the Council to take action on a matter, but certain conditions must be met to ensure authenticity. Any Elected Member or the CEO can present the petition at an Ordinary Council Meeting. The matter is then referred to the relevant business unit. Officers from that business unit are responsible for contacting the lead petitioner to deal with the matter.

A formal petition requires a minimum of two City of Stirling electors' signatures to be accepted. Although the petition can be signed by anyone, only the City's electors will be recorded in the official signature count.
