

Nature Stories

Schools Competition

Your child has explored the future through nature's eyes!

Help progress their entry
in the Nature Stories
Schools Competition.

Turn over to find out more.

As part of the City of Stirling's Future Stirling initiative, your child has created a story from nature's perspective, exploring its relationship with humans and what it needs to thrive in the years ahead.

This activity is part of a City-wide conversation to inform a major review of the City's Strategic Community Plan (Sustainable Stirling 2022–2032).

Help us share their story

To include your child's story in a class entry, and be eligible to win a nature experience for their school, please sign the below consent and return this form to your school.*

*Entries may be displayed at City of Stirling facilities, its website, digital platforms and in print publications.

Ask your child:

- Which character did you choose?
- What challenges does your character face?
- How can humans help your character's future?

Inspired by your child's story?

If this activity sparked ideas about the future you want for Stirling, we'd love your input! Share your ideas in our short Future Insights Survey.
