

Design Review Panel

Expressions of interest open

Interested in advising on design quality in planning?

The City of Stirling invites expressions of interest for the Design Review Panel. Submissions must be received by 5pm, Friday 27 August 2021.

Why does the City of Stirling need a Design Review Panel?

Design quality is important to the City of Stirling and allows solutions to be collaborative, gaining expert independent advice on the design quality of significant and complex development application proposals and strategic instruments.

Integrating design review into the planning system is a key component of the implementation and operation of State Planning Policy 7.0 – Design of the Built Environment.

What is the role of the Design Review Panel?

The Design Review Panel will:

- Attend regularly scheduled meetings at the City of Stirling Administration Centre, or via videoconference link if required.
- Provide independent expert design advice on various development proposals and strategic instruments against the 10 Design Principles within State Planning Policy 7.0 – Design of the Built Environment.
- Provide, through the Chairperson, independent, impartial, expert advice on design quality which will be presented to proponents, decision-makers and the community in a formal written report and recommendation against the 10 Design Principles of State Planning Policy 7.0 – Design of the Built Environment.
- The roles and responsibilities of the Chairperson and the Panel members are outlined in the City of Stirling Design Review Panel Terms of Reference.

The appointed panel of 15 members, with a minimum of 3 for any such meeting will be in place for a 2-year term. Panel members are paid for attendance per meeting attended.

Who is eligible?
